GREENVILLE NEWS.
Motorcyclist Badly Bruised When Machine Falls on Oily Road—Notes.

The oil which was spread on North Main street Monday morning, together with a hole in the surface of the road, was responsible for a bad spill which an out of town motorcyclist, experienced at the intersection of the road, the machine skidded throwing the rider a considerable distance. The man, whose name could not be learned, was taken into a convenient drug store and was attended by a physician. He was badly cut and bruised on the arms and one hip, and his clothes were considerably damaged by contact with the surface of the road. He is in a precarious condition, however, on his machine, which was not damaged.

Plans for Fourth of July.
A movement has been started to make the Fourth of July in town a most delightful day for young and old. It is the aim of the leaders to have the Fitchville people combine with local townspeople in the movement. While the plans have not been perfected yet, it is thought that the programme will start with a ball game between the married men of Yantic and Fitchville, and a singing at both places. For a general discussion of the subject there is to be a public meeting tonight (Tuesday) in the Fitchville hall, to get an expression of opinion on the matter.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.
Good Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

There were three vaudeville numbers worth while on the bill at the Auditorium on Monday making a varied entertainment offering and each registering a winning mark. Nat Goetz, muscular aerialist, a top-notch in his line and brings up the applause with his wonderful demonstrations of muscular power and control on the aerial rings.

Clark & Parker, a mixed team who work with special skill in their eleven comedy skits. Step lively, present a pleasing offering in song and dialogue, making a hit with their simple and baneful game which they use a second hand curtain.

An act entirely new to this house and one of striking originality is shown by the Hillings in their mechanical shadowgraphs, giving five complete subjects and bringing out a hearty round of applause for their entertaining novelty.

The singer for illustrated songs is disappointed for the present. The moving pictures are full of fun and of variety chosen to satisfy all tastes.

Because of their failure to file the returns of their business with the government within the time specified, which was checked by the Internal Revenue collector, the business is not large enough to subject them to the income tax, have been notified by Internal Revenue collector Eaton that if they remit $10 to his office by June 9, they will avoid the imposition of the penalty prescribed by law.

THE MINUTE MEN OF '61

Campfire Given to Fourteen of the Survivors by the Sons of Veterans at Buckingham Memorial—Supper Followed by Interesting Addresses.

Pronounced success attended the campfire given on Monday evening at the Buckingham Memorial by the Sons of Veterans at Buckingham Memorial—Supper Followed by Interesting Addresses.

out of these and some quite new and possibly as serious as any we have seen.

Your patriotism may never be called into play by just the paths in which our has trodden, but the questions of the coming times may demand of you exhibition of spirit no less self-sacrificing and quite as lofty as anything displayed by your forefathers or ours.

The inevitable reference to our social and political life—a symposium of which we have begun to witness this day in our own country—will be for our betterment, whether as citizens of Norwich, Connecticut, or of the United States will call for your best efforts, your cleanest honesty, and for courage to which the element of self-seeking must give place to that of service.

True liberty is a costly plant to maintain and it is well worth the cost. It has cost us much. It may cost you more. But it is well worth the cost.

Rev. C. H. Ricketts Heard.
The special guests present to whom the honors of the evening were accorded were Gen. William A. Allen, adjutant general under Governor Buckingham; James Harvey, New London; James McKee, Vine St. Station of this city; C. Wheatley and W. W. Argue, Danielson; all of company Second Infantry; Joseph H. Jewett, Westerly; and J. J. Donnell of Company B, Second Infantry.

Spaulding, Joseph T. Mitchell, Postmaster William Caruthers, Horace R. Spaulding, George W. Whitfield, P. Burke, Company D, Third Infantry, and William M. Perkins, who assisted in the naval service in September, 1861.

C. H. Hobson Toastmaster.
When the banquet was concluded by Principal C. H. Hobson presided in a capable way as the toastmaster for the evening. He was followed by C. O. Banks, division commander and corps commander of the Sons of Veterans, who briefly extended a cordial welcome to all present, expressing the wish that such a gathering might be a stimulus to greater patriotism and loyalty.

Address by General Allen.
He was followed by General Allen, whose eloquent words were greeted with enthusiastic applause, which was the rule throughout the evening for all the speakers. General Allen spoke as follows: Captain Fairbanks and Sons of Veterans.

In the remarks I make to you this evening I must allude both to the glorious past and to the no less important future.

This campfire is in special commemoration of the men of '61, men who fought with old soldiers and men who love to fight their battles over again.

Our local papers have from day to day reprinted in their columns the records of fifty years ago and these throw a short bridge over the long gap between the past and the present. We see the moving pictures over again—we hear the calls of the president for troops and the quick and loud response of the governor; we see the gathering armies and companies and regiments—we hear the patriotic speeches of brave citizens pledging their persons, their money or their sympathy.

We see the devoted mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts working day and night and through the Sunday to properly clothe and equip their sons for the field. We see the tender goodbyes, cheerful, yet sad sometimes with costly tears. All these and many other things we see and we are reminded of the great sacrifice that the nation made to think over as your intercourse with us has taught you.

I think it was before the war began that the London Times, the greatest of the English papers, sent over their most noted correspondent, Dr. Russell, to write up the story of the war. He was in Charleston, S. C., before and during the struggle on Fort Sumter. He tells of the bitterness of the universal feeling towards the north. He says the Yankees were the great enemy of the south. He describes a scene of their masters they couldn't help describing them in the same way, even their prayers were full of hate. He says that the Yankees were the great enemy of the south. He describes a scene of their masters they couldn't help describing them in the same way, even their prayers were full of hate.

In that connection I never shall forget that the forts at Hilton Head and Bay Point, S. C., after a five hours bombardment on Monday, April 9, 1865, were sent up one of the tributary creeks to the aristocratic old town of Charleston, which, by the utter unexpected result of the battle, was being abandoned in hot haste by the white inhabitants of its stately mansions, taking with them only as many of their slaves as were needed for personal attendance and leaving the rest to the mercy of the victors. He describes a scene of their masters they couldn't help describing them in the same way, even their prayers were full of hate.

Another of the Minute Men, Charles W. Spaulding, was called upon by his response to the toast of the Sons of Veterans, which were given with a will, as were also the cheering and the singing of the "Dixie" and the "Marching Minstrel." The "Dixie" and the "Marching Minstrel" were given with a will, as were also the cheering and the singing of the "Dixie" and the "Marching Minstrel."

Prof. George Injured.
Fell Twelve Feet to Ground from Piazza Roof, Spreading Bones in His Ankle.

While trimming a maple tree from the roof of his piazza at his home on Main avenue last Thursday, Prof. George Injured himself, falling from the roof to the ground, some twelve feet below.

He was attended by a doctor and is able to be about by the use of crutches. He has not been able to attend to his school duties and did not go to the school Monday. He expects to be at school Tuesday.

Chief Stanton Attended.
The Connecticut Fire Chiefs' club was held at the school at Storrs last Monday with about 25 members in attendance. There was no set programme for the meeting, the general business of the club being transacted. The Fire Prevention of More Important Fires, Fire Extinguishment, A. C. Hendrick, former chief at New Haven, presided, and was given an ovation when he entered the room. The chiefs had as guests the fire commissioners of Bridgeport.

Chief Howard L. Stanton was present from this city.

Graceful and Attractive Women

If you are thin and want to be plump; if you have wrinkles in your face that you are not proud of; if your skin is sallow or subject to pimples; if you take a little of M-O-N-A stomach tablets for two weeks and notice the change.

Thousands of the thin people are thin because the stomach is not active; it is not mixing thoroughly with the natural digestive juices the food put into it, and in consequence is not extracting from the food enough nourishing matter for the blood to distribute to every part of the body. If the stomach does not do its work properly the nourishment in the food you eat is passed along without giving to the body any flesh building elements.

M-O-N-A stomach tablets quickly get the stomach so that it extracts from the food all the elements necessary to form good solid flesh.

If you are thin try a two weeks treatment of M-O-N-A stomach tablets; two with each meal will work wonders.

M-O-N-A stomach tablets are guaranteed to cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back. Sold by the Local Druggists and all druggists everywhere at 25c a box.
